Family Transitions Triple P

Is this you?

You're divorced or separated. Your child is caught in the middle. You may have problems with your extended family, your new partner or your ex. Holidays and birthdays cause arguments. You may be concerned about your finances, and you're worried about the impact this is all having on your child's behaviour and emotions. If this sounds familiar, Family Transitions Triple P can help.

What Is Family Transitions Triple P?

Family Transitions is a group parenting programme for divorced or separated parents. It gives you new ways to help protect your child – and yourself – from the fallout from a family split.

What happens at Family Transitions?

At Family Transitions sessions, you meet other parents going through many of the problems that come with divorce or separation. You will get new ideas, techniques and strategies to help you through the day-to-day dramas and ongoing trauma of your situation. These ideas can help you cope with stress, anger and change, resolve conflict, and communicate better with your ex.

Family Transitions Triple P

How long does it take?

There are five weekly sessions of two hours each. After the five sessions, you are welcome to join other parenting groups offered by Children and Family Support Services.

Does my ex-partner need to attend with me?

No. Family Transitions is not a mediation programme so you should attend on your own or, if you want support, with your new partner. If your ex-partner wants to do Family Transitions, you should attend separate groups.
